U.S.A.

With our best greetings and with our best intentions, we're sending to you this letter accompanying our pilot project for a political transition on Cuba. This transition is described towards a democracy and a social, empathic economic policy, to form peace and avoid violence.

Cuba is presented with a unique opportunity on the planet to transform itself into a terrestrial paradise, due to the fact that this island has been preserved of any non-sustainable development. The Cuban people lived for the last 60 years in a permanent state of enclosure and protection. This way, the Cuban people have learned to deal with their special situation and to develop a strong identity, based on education and preserving their own culture. The Cuban people face more opportunities than risks when conciliating their destiny with other nations on the planet.

We deliver our proposal for discussion with the sole intention of helping Cuba on its way to transformation and we wish to openheartedly give our support and offer unconditional cooperation, in order to contribute to this very positive development lying ahead of the Cuban nation and the international community.

We are happy to see that since publishing our study in April, many progress was made on this way: freedom to travel, freedom of navigation and air traffic USA-Cuba, improvements in the foreign exchange and money remittance, possibility of property ownership for nationals and foreigners, etc.

We will be happy to offer you that our association TSW Terra-Sol may support the further positive development through working out an appropriate scientific master plan.

We full heartedly send our best wishes to the Cuban people and to their American neighbors, that they may be allowed to define their own future partnership in peace, happiness and joy. With this regard we are closely united with you in the destiny of your both great nations.

With our best greetings,

Zürich, 14. 12. 2012
